LEM297 20. - 27.11.2010

Antti Aaltonen (ANA) and Håkan Sundman (HS)

Sunday, November 21

LEM297 begun with mediocre conditions stopped by a sudden slight disturbance around noon. So we had plenty of time to prepare and enjoy a nice dinner: Sandre frit, cottage cheese salad with grapes and garlic + mustard sauce, all accompanied by Pascal Jolivet Sancerre 2007.

Monday, November 22

The conditions were even more mediocre than on Sunday. In spite of furious listening, there won't be much to tell to future generations. However, there were a lot of stations on the band, so things could be a lot worse. A couple of stations found on Sunday's recordings: WMOB-1360 and WCXN-1170. Aprikos- och chipotleglaserat ankbröst med apelsinsallad. Amarone della Valpolicella Classico 2006.

Tuesday, November 23

The conditons changed, but in an unexpected way: they became poorer. Not much to tell about any DX-results so we move on to the main item of this DXpedition, food and drinks! Having visited our friends in Kongsfjord we finally understand what the most important ingredients of a good DXpedition are! Today we had some errands to take care of in Inari so we enjoyed a nice dinner at the famous gold-digger's hotel and restaurant, Kultahovi. By the way, on the wall just after the front door they have a beautiful poster promoting visits to such exciting DX-sites as Berlevåg and Kongsfjord! For starters we had bark & buckwheat blinis with vendace roe, onions and smetana. The main dishes were chorizo/smoked reindeer pasta and reindeer meatballs with polenta and vegetables. Almost as good as our dinners at the DXcabin in Lemmenjoki!

Wednesday, November 24

The worst NA-day so far. And the previous ones weren't too hot either... The band was absolutely packed with Asian stations in the afternoon, but they did not give us any reason to celebrate. However, the culinary celebration continued. For dinner we prepared an absolutely delicious reindeer soup with several very secret ingredients (many of which we had brought with us from home). The dinner was accompanied by Yalumba Riesling 2009. For dessert we had Finnish squeaky cheese topped with cloudberry jam and a few splashes of cognac. And now: may the mediocre conditions end and the serious DXing begin!

Thursday, November 25

The conditions finally improved to a somewhat acceptable level. The morning was quiet so we spent some time chasing Iberian stations but after a while we discovered a nice opening to the South Western parts of the USA with interesting signals from California.

For dinner we had tenderloin of reindeer with mashed potatoes and red wine sauce. As a side dish we had a nice salad in genuine Provence style. Tonight's wine was Hewitson's excellent Miss Harry 2008 (=the only female we enjoyed or saw during the week).

Friday, November 26

The morning began with a nice opening to Venezuela with some huge signals. A warm tropical feeling filled the cabin. After a very mediocre morning and early afternoon we experienced an hour with some seriously good signals from Wyoming, Utah and the western plains.

For dinner we had a traditional Scandinavian dish: Janssons frestelse (“Jansson’s temptation”). Easy to prepare but still very satisfying. So much better than the industrial crap many LEM-crews unfortunately “enjoy” here. To accompany this delicious meal we had Heineken beer and Strongbow cider.

Saturday, November 27

By far our best morning with nice signals and interesting stations from the Caribbean and the East Coast. As this was the last morning, packing and preparing for departure slightly interfered with the listening. However, with Perseus and minidisks, most of it was captured for later analysis.
